Join us for
Dr. Stroud's Presentation:

PARTISANSHIP AND THE SEARCH FOR ENGAGING NEWS

Dr. Stroud's presentation will discuss research showing that partisanship is an important component of how people behave in news comment sections. Drawing from the stereotype content model, she will describe empirically-tested ways to curb the influence of motivated reasoning in news comment sections. Finally, she will present results from a recent project where she and colleagues examined how newsrooms and news users respond to uncivil and partisan news comments.

Friday, December 1, 2017  3:00-4:00pm

Smith Forum, Reynolds Journalism Institute 200